With the out-Commons this afternoon, Home Secbreak of war the figures jumped to retary McKenna announced that King 300 applications for the first week in George had ordered the release of all August—a high water mark. The po-sitions applied for were mostly drivers, clerks and laborers. Many suffragists serving terms in British prisons as the result of their militant drivers have been thrown out of work because of the stagnation in shipping.

To relieve the situation Commisioner Bell has consulted with Police Commissioner Woods. It has been lecided to enlist the aid of policemen from now on in obtaining jobs for the destitute and less fortunate victime. The patrolmen have been asked to keep an eye on all construction work in their precincts and report to the station house so that agents the bureau can be sent there to so-

The increase in the number of unemployed asking for work has caused Commissionr Bell to begin an immediate reorganization of the bureau, so that it will be able to cope with the increased work it will be called on to perform. He has asked the Civil Service Commission to take action on an application to exempt the position of superintendent of the exchange. It is expected the bureau will shortly take up quarters in No. 49 Lafayette street, where Commissioner Bell has big office.

his office.

It was reported at the exchange teday that a number of bricklayers in the Bridge Department have been laid off. It is feared other city employees not protected by Civil Service also will lose their positions.

Becretary McAdoo made a short speech and Gov. Hamlin replied. The taking of office by the board was the last step in the preliminary stage of launching a completely new banking system for this country. Officials expect the transition to be accomplished smoothly and it is, probable that the twelve reserve banks authorized by law will be open for business within a few weeks.
